Smoke Alarms UK Fire Service Resources

Smoke alarms are self-contained devices that incorporate a means of detecting a fire (smoke detector) and giving a warning (alarm), usually a very loud beeping sound. They are about the size of a hand and are normally fitted to the ceiling. They can detect fires in their early stages and give you those precious minutes to enable you and your family to leave your house in safety.

What to Do When Smoke Alarm Keeps Beeping?

Why does my smoke detector go off when I install a new battery or turn on the AC power? It is typical for the smoke alarms to go off and sound for a moment (up to 5-10 seconds) when you install a new battery or they are powered up.
