Lonely Planet, best known for guidebooks and online travel forums, has produced this heavily-illustrated book. It's organized by emotions, though how you distinguish among them is not clear. What is the difference, from a travel perspective, between Awe and Inspiration, or Serenity and Reflection? Anyway, that's mostly irrelevant as you get a book like this to ogle the photos and imagine your

Planet

Here at Lonely Planet we decided to make a book about the world's countries for children, not parents. The world is a very big place, and in The Not-for-Parents Travel Book we've concentrated on the really interesting bits to create a snapshot of what each country is like. (Warning to parents: these might not be the same really interesting bits that you like where to buy coffee.
